1. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

2. The Claim is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention. In line 3, "the front side thereof" is indefinite which antecedent is referred to by "thereof". See also lines 4, 8, 11, 14 and 20 where "thereof" is indefinite. In line 4, "the present invention" is not delimited or previously defined and is there for indefinite. In lines 6, 12 and 17, the intent and meaning of the dash line is indefinite and should be deleted. In line 13, "an upper and a lower engaging fingers" is ungrammatical. In line 21, "adapted at the indented tool cavity" does not make sense. In line 22, the word "besides" indicates an alternative where none is defined and renders the claim language indefinite. Also in line 22, "forceps-like" is indefinite in what manner the tool is "like" a forceps.

3. The Claim would be allowable if rewritten or amended to overcome the rejection(s) under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, set forth in this Office action.

4. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Shown are assorted analogous tool hangtags.
